

I subscribe to Brighthouse cable and pay about$73.00 Per month in fees, taxes and for programing. I as a young man listened to congress and the then none existant cable companys talk about the fees they would charge and the fact the consumer was paying for something yet would have to listen to commercials. The executives PROMISED congress that there would be NO commercials on paid cable TV yet there is just as much on cable is not more then free broadcast. There are even advertisement in the corners of the screen for other programs during viewing of a program blocking some content and certainly distracting the viewer. I guess the question is "Why are commericals and advertisement allowed on paid cable after the promise to congress that there would be NO COMMERCIALS!"?
